Practice, Practice, Practice!

A Bright Little Star

Twinkle, twinkle, shining star,
Reach both hands high overhead and open and close your fingers like twinkling lights.

Guiding shepherds from afar,
Place one hand flat above your eyebrows as if looking far out.

Telling of a baby's birth,
Cup your hands around your mouth like you are calling out good news.

Bringing joy and peace to earth.
Sweep both arms out wide from the center in a big, welcoming circle.

Through the quiet desert night,
Bring one index finder up to your lips in a gentle "shh" motion.

Wise men followed your bright light.
March your hands gently up and down at your sides as if walking on a journey.

Over hills and valleys wide,
Move one hand in a slow wave motion up and down in front of you.

With a glowing beam to guide.
Point one arm straight up toward the ceiling.

Right above a stable low,
Bring both hands together over your head with fingertips touching to form a peaked roof.

You stopped still and shed your glow.
Hold your hands open and still at chest height, palms facing the congregation.

Showing everyone the way,
Gesture outward with both palms facing up.

To the place where Jesus lay.
Cross your arms and gently rock them as if cradling a baby.
